

Trinity Place

Arquitectonica designed the master plan and architecture for the award-winning Trinity Place, a 1,900-unit multi-phase residential development less than one mile from San Francisco's Civic Center. The first phase, at 1188 Mission Street, includes 440 units, 360 of which are rent controlled. The next phase is currently planned as a 545-unit project on Market Street with 21,000 SF of retail space. The developer will open a large public plaza and pedestrian pass-through linking Mission Street and Market Street. To complete the project, 915 new residences will be added in buildings along Eighth Street and Mission Street.
